

THE UNIVERSITY
OF CHICAGO
HOSPITALS

Teamwork and Family Centered Care

To view the video of this transcript, go to:

<http://www.uchospitals.edu/jobs/nursing/videos.html>

Featuring:

Ana Borbur, RN, ADN, Staff Nurse

Carolina Cortez, RN, BSN, Staff Nurse

Maureen Gagen, RN, ADN, Intensive Care Unit Nurse

Jai Raman, MD, PhD, Director, Adult Cardiac Surgery

Johnny Tazbir, RN, BSN, Intensive Care Unit Nurse

What's it take to be the only hospital in the state ever named to the Honor Roll of America's Best Hospitals? It takes exceptional teamwork and providing family centered care. And the University of Chicago nurses excel in both areas

Tazbir: It's a team approach working with these doctors, because the physicians here respect our opinions.

Borbur: Because it's not only medicine that we give. It's a lot of attention and love.

Dr. Raman: The nurses that work here are involved, caring, responsive to patient's needs, and the kind that work very well with us.

Gagen: We feel empowered by the decisions we can make, because we have so much autonomy here.

Our nurses bring both expertise and empathy to their delivery of family centered care.

Borbur: We take care of the whole family. It's not just a single person.

Cortez: It just gives you such pride and pleasure to say you that work for the University of Chicago.

University of Chicago Nurses. Working at the Forefront of Nursing Excellence.

To learn more about nursing opportunities at the University of Chicago Hospitals, visit:

<http://www.uchospitals.edu/jobs/nursing/>